Noho Gallery stands as one of the oldest and most respected artist-led galleries in New York. The guiding philosophy through the years has been to exhibit artworks of high quality in all media, diverse in style and content. Noho Gallery opened its doors in 1975, and was originally located just north of Houston Street, thus the name "Noho."

In 1983, the gallery relocated to Soho for 17 years. In September, 2001, Noho Gallery moved to Chelsea, the heart of today's New York art scene.

Dear Prospective Member,

Noho Gallery is an artists' cooperative, operating with 35 members, whose work varies in style and technique. On the second Wednesday of each month we review prospective members' work to choose additional members for our gallery.

Active Membership

An active member is entitled to a solo show approximately every two years and group shows, usually two per year. Members sit for their own shows and take turns sitting for the group shows in which they participate. Each active member pays dues—currently $170 per month—and shares in the operation of the gallery by serving on a committee (there is no paid director) and by attending monthly meetings. Officers are elected from the membership once a year. Upon joining the gallery, active members pay an ownership fee of $500 plus the first month's dues. This totals $670.

Exhibiting in a professional New York gallery requires commitment and conscientiousness but offers essential exposure in today's competitive art world. Many of our members have become successful in sales, critical reviews, and museum placement.

If you would like to join our gallery, please fill out this application and bring ten labeled digital files, or printouts; a fine arts resume; and three actual works which you consider representative.

Other support materials, such as a statement, catalogs, or copies of reviews are welcome. Bring everything to the gallery between 11:30am and 5:30pm the week of the second Wednesday of the month. The gallery is closed Sundays and Mondays.

Out-of-Town Membership

Out-of-town members must meet the above requirements, but are exempt from attendance at meetings and serving on a committee. Their dues are higher than active members.

Invitational Exhibitions

The invited artist is entitled to a solo exhibition on a one-time basis. Scheduling is, as space permits, after members' shows are scheduled. The cost is equivalent to that of active membership, but is paid in two installments rather than monthly. No meeting, attendance, or committee work is required.

Application requirements are the same as above.

Please fill out the application form and return it to the gallery. If you have any further questions, do not hesitate to call or visit the gallery. We will notify you of the group's decision. You may pick up your work on Thursday or thereafter.
